I am a full stack web developer and graphic designer. Having completed the Manhester University coding bootcamp I have experience in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React, NodeJS, MySQL, MongoDB, mongoose amongst other and comfortable creating full MERN solutions for the industry.

I am also an Adobe certified graphic designer ( Adobe certified associate in Photoshop, Illustrator and InDesign).

Full stack projects

Yummy Fridge - Recipe App

- An application that helps users find recipes utilizing ingredients already in their fridge.
- Role: Involved in all aspects of the process from conceptualising the idea to final delivery. Conducted market research into available APIs and best way to integrate them into the app. Designed the interface including the logo and typeface design.
- Tools Used: HTML, CSS, JavaScript

WRK with - Collaboration App

- Created an alternative to stack overflow. The premise is simple - a developer would advertise a project in any phase to attract possible collaborators. Interested developers would register as collaborators and lines of communication would open between the project owner and future collaborators.
- Role: Served as the project manager leveraging agile methodologies to remain on track with delivery and execution. Developed the backend, oversaw creation of the MySQL database and model, fetching the data and integrating the API requests with our front end. Implemented a way to allow users to upload their own avatar images using fileUpload library within NPM and store them in the database.
- Tools Used: Node js, Express, MYSQL, Sequelize, Handlebars, HTML, CSS, JavaScript

The Big Day - Wedding planning App

- A full stack application aimed to simplify the wedding planning process. Couples can enter their wedding details including dates, venue and menu details and generate an electronic email list of their guests who will receive an email of these details. The guests can then log in to the "wedding" on the application to RSVP and confirm menu choices.
- Role: This was a React application with an Express backend. MongoDB and mongoose served as the preferred database solution and the application was deployed using Heroku and MongoAtlas DB. Utilized Google APIs to send emails from our backend to the targeted guests.
- Tools Used: React, Express, Node.js, MongoDB, Google API's

Technologies used: React, Express, Nodejs, MongoDB, emailJS, magiclink

2022

This is a concept design for the international forests day.

The one tree planted foundation wanted a simple yet modern design to appeal to millennials and gen Z generations to encourage them to save the forest and plant more trees.

Bold colours and simple yet bold lines deliver on the brief.

International day of forests poster

Brave the wave contest poster

This is a poster design concept for Michigan Wave Makers' Brave the Wave 2020 event. The client wanted a retro 70s feel to the poster. They also wanted a stylised jet ski to feature as a main element in the design.

I think the colours work well for a water based event. Multicoloured text effects and a custom made pattern to the background brings out the 70s feel very nicely. I also added a subtle grunge texture to give it that aged look.

The sponsors of the event were clearly visible at the bottom of the poster without overwhelming the design.

Complex Architecture album cover

This is a concept for an album cover I designed. Muted colours and a mix of 2D and 3D graphics gives the design a modern aesthetic.

The design could easily feature on the cover of a brochure or prospectus.

Growth fund info-graphic

This is a design for Black Oak Alpha growth fund. They wanted a simple yet informative design to showcase the various solutions they offer their clients.

The money bank pig represent finance and the colours are derived from the company's logo.

This is the winning design for Hunter Airways' new advertisement campaign. The company wanted a timeless classic of a lady with a flowing red dress to represent their company and their high class service.

I made several versions for them including a night version of New York city so they can have a feel for what would work best. One of my most complicated works to date including several layers and blending options to achieve a seamless transition between the lady, clouds and New York city in the background.

I am very proud of the end result and glad it was chosen as the winning entry out of 50+ other entries on 99 designs website.

BECAUSE FLYING NEEDS AN UPGRADE

Alchemy - Film Poster

This is the winning design for a film poster competition. The film is available on Amazon Prime video.

I worked closely with the director to bring his vision to the poster and capture the feel of the film.

I also followed careful guidelines to provide all necessary assets in the correct formats for displaying on Amazon Prime Video.

The project was great fun and I am very happy with the end result.

Edgerton Property - logo design

This is an example of a logo design I created for Edgerton properties.

The client wanted an elegant, line based logo in the shape of a house.

We worked through several iterations of the design to achieve the right balance of graphic and font.

During the course of the work I prepared several mock ups for the client to help him visualise the logo designs on various media.

The end result (below) was elegant and bold representing luxury homes. The client was extremely happy.

Lisa Richards artistic poster

This is a design concept for artist Lisa Richards. The artist wanted a piece of artistic memorabilia to offer her fans at her concerts.

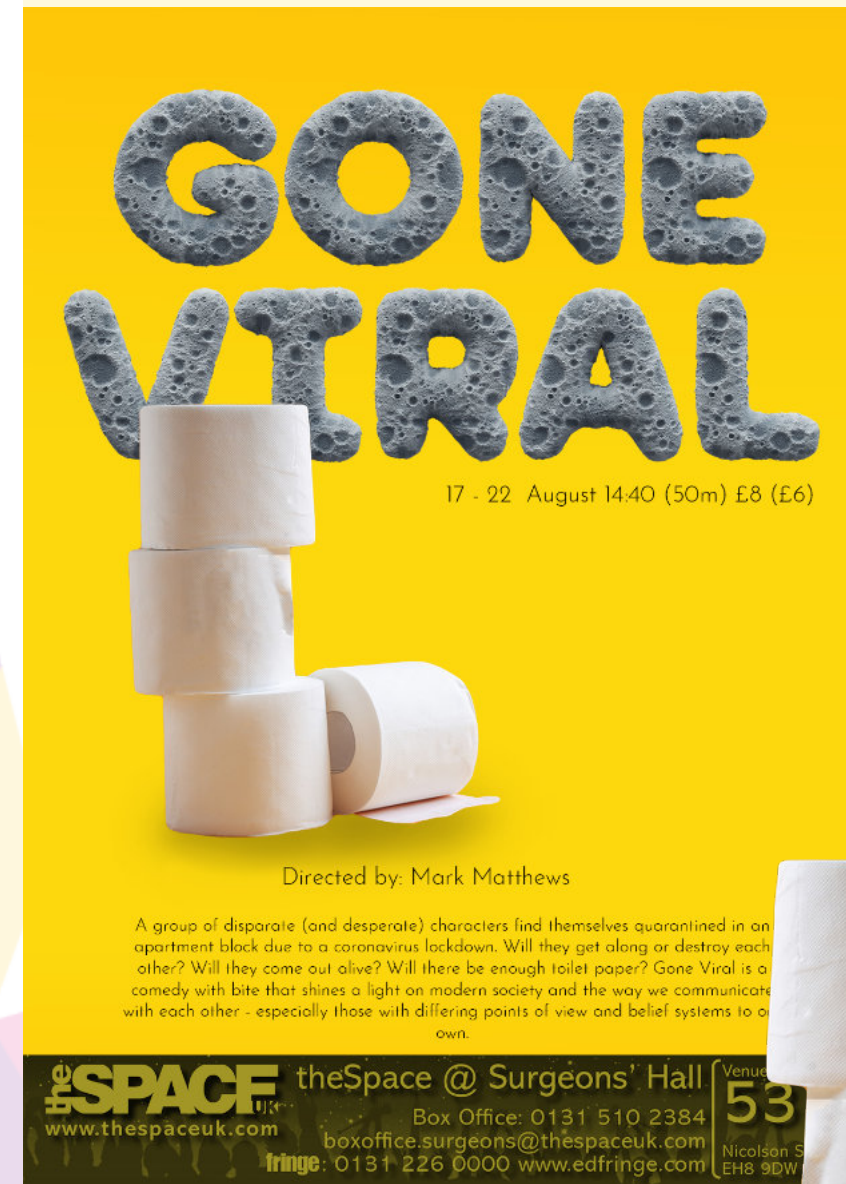

The brief stipulated the use of the artist's face in the poster.

I used Adobe Illustrator to create a low polygon version of her face, then filled the pieces with various colours and patterns to give it a mosaic abstract look. Added textures and photo filters in photoshop finish the classy artistic look.

Gone viral - play poster

This is a poster design for a play about the pandemic. The creators wanted a witty and striking design. The toilet roll shortages of 2020 provided the perfect backdrop for this concept.

Cirque Wonderland Christmas Party Advert.

This is a poster design for the cirque wonderland Christmas parties series. The design is simple yet effective and includes the pictures of a number of the performers. It screams Christmas and entices the curiosity of the viewer.

Human by design - album cover

This is an album cover design concept for a band called Medicine Jar for their upcoming Album called Human by Design.

The brief was rather brief with a lot of freedom for the artist to create a design that they thought conveyed the title.

The band requested the design was on the more abstract side.

I went for striking colours on the statue that popped from the background with a thin classy font. This was a good exercise in application of displacement maps from a technical point of view.
